Garber: Domestic violence too prevalent

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS Publisher Emeritus

Hancock County Sheriff Steve Garber is very much concerned about his department receiving an average of one a-day calls involving domestic violence.

From January 1, 2002 to July 3, 2002, sheriff's deputies responded to 188 domestic violence calls, according to records kept by Chief Investigator Robert Lambert.

Garber was authorized by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors in early March to secure the Watts to file applications for grant funds to help stem the rise of domestic violence in the county.

victims' assistance coordinator for District Attorney Cono Caranna's office, emphasized the need for organizations to assist crime victims in Harrison, Hancock and Stone counties; and to join in and support greater public awareness about the rights and needs of crime victims.

keeping records by computer in late 2000 with programs being developed by Investigator Bert Johnson, is now at a point where the efforts of grant writer Gail department can make comparisons on most crime categories committed in the county.

In April, a news release July 3, sheriff's deputies according to Lambert's work together on major and from Jennifer A. Garraway, responded to 188 domestic violence calls.

July 3 was the 184th day of 2002. Of the calls there were 98 arrests and three warrants still outstanding. Of those arrested, 70 were males, 24 females and three juveniles.

Of the 188 calls, it was the first offense on 169 Lambert, who began calls, 16 second offenses and three third offenses.

> Lambert reports the handling of domestic complaints is very complicated, because the state's manual is several inches thick.

During the first six months of 2002, May led with 40 domestic calls. From January 1, 2002, to while June only had 20,

The sheriff's investigation department includes tigation department to be Chief Lambert, Kenny Hurt, Rita Blaize-Watson, André Fizer, and John Luther, in addition to Burt Johnson, who works computer programming and the shop detail. pawn

Investigator Capt. Matt Karl heads the Narcotics Division which was formed in January, 2002.

Investigator Hurt primarily deals with juveniles, molestations and rapes. Blaize-Watson, Fizer and Luther handle a wide variety of crimes in the department.

Lambert added, "Our investigators are trained to even minor crimes. It is nothing for the entire invesworking on one crime, as an example the recent Bayou

Phillips community murder." Investigators handled 386 cases assigned to them from January 1 to June 30, solving 317 for 82%, with several still under investigation, Lambert reports. Garber said initial reports indicate the grant to hire an investigator to handle the domestic violence cases should be received soon, possibly in October.

A special investigator will be trained just to deal with domestic violence when the grant is received.

Pass continues city pier extension

BY SHANNON JENKINS Staff Writer

Pass Christian Board of Aldermen authorized payments on two of the city's projects during a meeting held last week.

Aldermen authorized a $32,379.13 payment to Anchor Sales and Service for the extension of an existing pier and the construction of a new one. The money for the project is provided by Tidelands Trust money.

John Campton, the city engineer, said the original fishing pier was built in the early 1990s and has been heavily used since its construction. He said roughly 130 feet will be added to the pier, which will approximately double its size. Campton said the project began around May and is halfway completed.

In addition to the extension, another small pier is being constructed on the west section of the harbor to provide five new boat slips. Campton said the city plans to rent these slips to charter boats.

Aldermen also authorized a payment of $20,991.22 to GM & R for a bulkhead project. Campton said the project, which is approximately 50 percent completed, is behind schedule with a completion date in August. He said the project began around February 2002.

Wastewater collection system in the works for Pearlington

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER Staff Writer

The first phase of a wastewater collection system for Pearlington will begin soon. Board members of Southern Regional Wastewater Management District voted at Tuesday's meeting to amend a service contract that would guarantee the area treatment facilities ,even if a proposed transmission line were not completed in time to service the first phase of the collection system. This will allow the community to take advantage of available funding in the form of various loans and grants. Without a garnet of a treatment system, the funding for the collection could not be awarded.

Treatment would be provided via a package treatment plant, a portable system that could be used later to jump start collection in other areas of the county. The package treatment

The $400,000 system would handle 100,000 gallons per day and could be expanded to handle a larger capacity if need be. Cost for the system would be shared by a 70/30 split, with Southern Regional paying the larger percentage. At the completion of the transmission line to Pearlington, the portable system would become the sole property of Southern Regional to use as needed.

The collection system in Pearlington will be constructed in three phases, according to Compton Engineering, the firm in charge of drawing up the plans for that system and another three phase system in the Kiln area.

Both designs will employee a vacuum collection system, similar the system that Hancock County Water and Sewer use, engineers said. Each house, or every two or three house will have a collection basin, which when full, will be emptied by multiple central vacu-

Pickering, then 32, was a staffer for Sen. Trent Lott, but more important, he was given a key role in drafting the telecommunications act.

Since then, Ebbers showed his gratitude to Pickering by laying heavy money on Pickering's political future, and giving him a visible spot on the ceremony platform every time another WorldCom coup announced.

Consequently, it is no accident that it was disclosed the other day that Pickering had gotten $83,700 from WorldCom, either from its PACs or executives, over the past few years, a sum eight times more than any other Mississippi political figure got from the long distance giant. # What is tort reform and exactly whom would it affect?

To the Editor:

Since tort reform bills were introduced in the Mississippi legislature in January, much has been said about tort reform. But the facts about what exactly it is and who would be affected are not widely Proponents of tort reform are saying laws regulating liability lawsuits will allow doctors to afford malpractice insurance, as if tort reform would singularly make this happen.

But, if Mississippi had tort reform, how many insurance companies would lower their insurance rates?

The major cause of the problem associated with increases in malpractice insurance rates is that the St. Paul Companies, a group of companies that write malpractice insurance for approximately Mississippi doctors, recently announced it was getting out of the malpractice insurance business. This not only affects Mississippi doctors but ten percent of the doctors in the United States.

Tort reform Mississippi will not solve this problem. Alabama and Louisiana have tort reform, but their malpractice insurance rates are not lower than those quoted to doctors in Mississippi. Tort reform will, in fact, not cause insurance companies to lower their insurance rates.

Supporters of tort reform say they are necessary to stop the multi-million dollar liability lawsuits which are causing the high malpractice insurance and driving doctors out of Mississippi.

The judicial system deals with these lawsuits. Frequently they are against people who have been negligent in their duties which have led to injuries or death.

These victims or their families deserve compensation. The courts dismiss lawsuits that have no merit. Jury verdicts in the millions are the exception not the rule. Until 1995, there had been no jury verdicts over $9 million, since then less than 20. What tort reform will do is offer special protection for those guilty of negligence.

We need to continue letting the judicial system, which has worked from more than a hundred years, do its job.

To the Editor: FACE THE FACTS

Fact 1. A citizen cannot get into court or even seriously threaten a liability claim without enlisting the help of an attorney. A lawyer is the "gatekeeper" even for the multitude of unnecessary and frivolous claims. No willing lawyer - no claim.

Fact 2. A citizen cannot be treated at a hospital or get a prescription filled without an order from a doctor. A doctor is the gatekeeper of quality medical care. No doctor - no quality medical care.

Fact 3. Most reasonably prudent businesspersons will not continue in any business or profession subject to liability claims, unless he or she can purchase liability insurance.

If you can understand these three facts you should be able to see that: In the very near future you and your family are at risk of not being able to obtain medical care from your doctor, or worse still, may not be able to have your ongoing medical needs met, or to obtain emergency medical care.

Here is a simple test for those readers who doubt that such a crisis exists.

of the month. The initial visit was the result of a letter from W.P. Jones requesting a public health assessment. Jones, a former police detective, has been working to document evidence of widespread disease clusters in the area for the past several years.

The agency will be addressing health concerns regarding the DuPont DeLisle Plant facility and is requesting that anyone in the area of Kiln, DeLisle, Pass Christian, Bay St. Louis, Waveland and other area communities attend the health consultations so that the agency can document their health concerns regarding the plant.

Past or present plant their present residence, are urged to voice their concerns, ATSDR-officials said in a release issued this week. Any documentation regarding health concerns should be brought to the consultation.

Consultations will be held on Tuesday, July 30, at the Pass Christian City Hall in the Council Room. Two sessions will be conducted, from 1 p.m.-3 p.m. and from 6 p.m.-8 p.m. These consultations are individual and confidential, though families or groups may be interviewed together if they so choose.

Extra personnel will be sent to the area to handle the expected volume of people, said ATSDR Regional employees, regardless of Representative Carl Blair.

Residents are also urged to call the agency at a toll-free number so that officials can gain some idea of the volume of consultations to expect. If you have questions, or if you will be unable to attend the scheduled sessions, you may contact the ATSDR at 1-888-422-8737, extension 329-1175 or check the web at http://atsdr1.atsdr.cdc.gov8 080. Officials expect to complete their assessment by Sept. 30. Copies of the completed assessment will be mailed to community members on request. Existing environmental data will also be taken into consideration in the assessment. The ATSDR was created by the 1980 Superfund Legislation. Its mission is to prevent exposure and adverse human health effects and diminished quality of life associated with the exposure to hazardous substances from waste sites, unplanned releases, and other sources of pollution present in the environment.

A health consultation is not the same thing as a medical exam, community health study, or public health assessment, though it may lead to those things.

It provides advice on a specific health issue related to real or possible exposure to toxic material. The staff evaluates information about toxic material at the site and how people may be exposed, in manners such as through breathing, water, soil, food and others. After gathering evidence, the agency makes recommendations for action. Such actions can include site cleanup, giving residents safe drinking water, educating the community about contaminants and their effects and further study.

The agency can also issue a public health advisory and make recommendations to other agencies for further action. The agency relies on environmental data, community health data, such as rates of illnesses and disease, and community con-

About 2,000 area residents are involved in the suit. Though residents have brought evidence documenting as many as 50 cancer cases in one two-mile area and other evidence of seriillnesses, ous Mississippi Department of Health has maintained that it has found no evidence of it will cost the district more money. More than likely, those 100 students will be spread out across the different schools in the district and would not cause a need for additional teachers.

Currently, there are about 13 students whose parents pay $300 in out-ofdistrict tuition, he said. The number of out-of-district students attending without paying tuition is estimated to be a much higher number than those who are.

"I would say there's easily 200 or more students been drafted and is await-

"I believe those children paying $300 now should be able to pay $300 until they graduate," Ladner said. "Why hit them now? They've been (attending the school district) legally for years."

Superintendent Ladner said he believes the new policy should cover new students, and they should be the ones subject to a tuition increase. Those currently paying the $300 tuition, however, are included in the tuition increase.

The policy, which has here that are out-of-district ing approval, establishes students not paying the criteria for accepting tuition," said Peggy Ladner. out-of-district students as

"The petitioning student shall submit a portfolio consisting of previous academic performance, which must establish a 3.0 GPA or equivalent, certified attendance history and discipline records for a three-year period ..."

This draft also proposes that "tuition shall be paid in full prior to the first student day of the school year."

Larry Peterson, District 1, who was out of the country during the month of June, requested that approval of the policy be postponed until the July 23 meeting so that he may have time to review it.

Ladner's Gulf Coast School of Basketball

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II ketball icon in Mississippi, Staff Writer

It seems like Ladners have always been associated with Hancock County basketball and not just for Jay Ladner and Professor 15 years. Nevertheless, this summer marks the 15th edition of the Ladner's Gulf Coast School of Basketball.

It was a decade and a half ago that cousins Jay Ladner and Michael Ray call 467-9057, ext. 224 or Ladner founded the basket- 452-2916. ball camp that has become one of the mainstays in summer basketball in all the Southeast.

Jay Ladner is entering his 12th season at the helm of the St. Stanislaus Rock-achaw basketball program where he led his squad to the Class 4A state semifinals last season without a single starter over six feet tall. Michael Ray Ladner enters his fifth season at the helm of the Hancock High School Hawks program.

The Hawks just finished off their first winning season since the season of 1994 and have shown steady and marked improvement under the guidance of Michael Ladner. Jay played his high school basketball at Oak Grove High School and became a hot recruit on the hardwood before finally landing at USM. There, he was a reserve guard on the 1987 NIT national championship squad. After a brief stint in the private sector after college, Jay began his coaching career at SSC during the 1991-92 school year.

Michael Ladner played for his father, Roland Ladner, at Hancock North Central High School. After HNC, Michael continued his playing days at Phillips College before beginning a coaching career that has taken him from Bay High School to the University of Memphis and back to Hancock High School.

The camp this year will run from July 22 through July 25 on the campus of St. Stanislaus College in Bay St. Louis in the Brother Memorial Gymnasium daily from 5:30 pm till 8:30 pm. The camp

Biloxi-Gulfport-Pascagoula MSA beat out the latest survey of the Top Mid-Sized Markets for 2001, according to the editors of Southern Business & Development SB&D) maga-

The Mississippi Coast region was ranked #2, behind Johnson City/Kingsport, Tennessee, for its job announcements and deal-making activity.

"While the region may be best known for its seafood and casinos, it is making a name for itself with highend call centers, polymer and plastics companies, as well as oil, gas, and chemirefiners import/export activity," said Mike Randle, publisher of Southern Business &

Development. This represents the third time that the Biloxi-Gulfport-Pascagoula MSA has been named to the Top 10 list. The region was first recognized in 1995 and won the category in 1998.

Since 1994. Pensacola and Jackson in Mississippi Coast has garnered 16 of the Top 100 corporate job announcements and is one of only 15 markets to place a "100" deal on the list every year.

The following communities rounded out the 2001 mid-market category winners: Pensacola, Beaumont, Columbia, S.C.; McAllen, Texas: Tulsa, Jackson, Miss.; El Paso; and Augusta, Ga.

structure that he had brought before the board months ago, when he asked for a zoning change to make the R-1 property commercial. At that time, the proposed building was to be a hotel.

"I'm skeptical that this is the same plan," said Sherry Webster. "The plan was a hotel and now suddenly, it's an old folks home."

Many people echoed Webster's suspicion in comments to one another around the packed room.

" I have bad feelings that they will pull down the old building and pull something sly and then the building will be gone," said Dr. Henry Maggio.

Cain's attorney Joel L. said Blackledge Wednesday that the decision to build a long-term care facility is the result of a change in Cain's decision.

"The regulations to build a long-term health facility are much more stringent than they would be for a hotel," Blackledge said. "We are planning on building a long-term healthcare facili-Blackledge said that current residents would be moved to other healthcare facilities and that his client is working through the appropriate state agencies to assure that appropriate arrangements are made.

Questions rolled around the room at Tuesday's council meeting as to the current status of the property's zoning rating.

"The property is a grandfather situation, rated R1," said Thriffiley. "There is no special exception existing on the property. If the building is torn down, the property reverts back to R1."

"I object to the request," said Franya Ethridge. "This application was incomplete (to planning and zoning). building ordinances was thumbnail artist's sketch (of the building). We tout the beauty of our historic beach front and then every year or two we are here trying to protect it,"

"The historical society is opposed to the demolition of the building for any reason," said director of Hancock County Historical Society Charles Gray. "Including demolition by neglect." Gray added that he would like to see the property put on the market for six months and offered to someone who would be interested in renovating the existing building.

A rumble of voices saying that the application should have never even gotten this far went through the crowd. Cain's lawyers had apparently come to planning and zoning with only the artist's sketch, no site plans.

and zoning, I had to come up with a site plan and details," said one audience member.

Harold ing. said

Battalora, who identified himself as a former planning and zoning official.

The crowd demanded a public hearing on Cain's request.

Attorney John Scaffidi said that because the application did not call for a zoning change that no public hearing was required, not a popular statement with the crowd.

In an attempt to ease the rumblings Thriffiley suggested that a public hearing be held anyway, out of respect for the neighborhood's opinions.

"It is in the council's best interest to set a hearing date where they (Cain and his representatives) would bring detailed plans," said Thriffiley. "People have a point, things were very vague."

Scaffidi agreed, telling council that they would be "casting in the dark" to approve something with no specific plans as to what the structure will look like or where it will be located. He advised the board to get as much information as possible before considering the application.

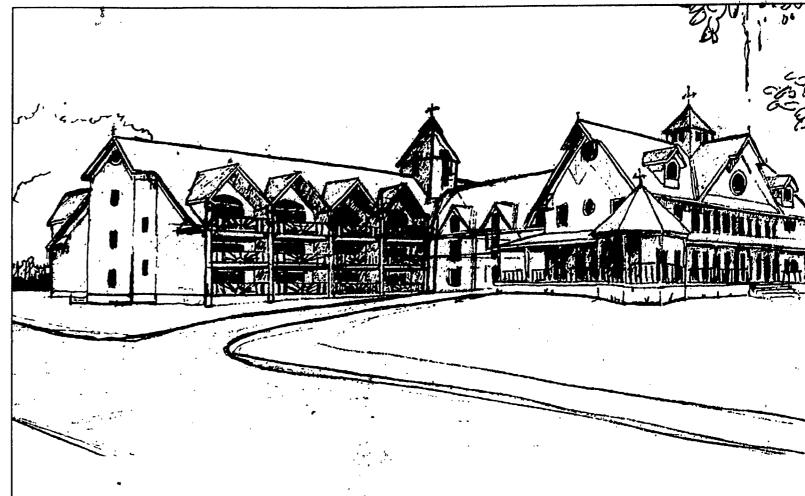

Councilman Bill Taylor added his agreement and requested that Cain and his associates also call the Mississippi Department of Archives and History before going any further. Taylor said the applicants should exhaust every avenue to find funding to renovate the building before they make a decision to destroy it. Thriffiley requested that the group also contact the historical society before its architect completed any plans to make sure that their rendering of what fits into the neighborhood, also matched residents' ideas of what fit the neighborhood.

Blackledge Wednesday that he and his No information required in client are planning to provide the council with any presented, no plans, only a information that they have requested and move forward from there, as to where the building would be placed on the grounds, Blackledge said that, like artist's rendering showed, the building would be placed on the back of the property, in the same area as the existing building.

The matter was tabled until applicants return with detailed plans, at which time a public hearing on the matter will be set.

In other business: Councilmen discussed again, but took no action on, a proposed utility ordinance to collect unpaid utility bills. In a meeting last month, Councilman Doug Seal pressed the city administration to take action in collecting some $200,000 in unpaid utility bills. Simbach explains, "The dolls seemed to embody the cultural mix of music he performs. He bought tons of them and gave them out to friends on his world tour.

He also wore the dolls throughout the tour, even in international videos of his songs." She laughs. "I guess you can say my dolls are well-traveled."

The "Pet Peeve" pillows are a series of hand painted dog and cat figures that have already captured the attention of galleries and interior designers She also consulted and around the country. The designed for the advertising idea evolved from her desire to help with animal rescue Simbach says, "I have this wonderful dog "Bob" She began making the and "Kitty" the cat. When I moved to the North Carolina mountains six years ago, I found lots of my new friends were into animal rescue. I started by building a float for the group for the annual Christmas Parade in Madison County and had so much fun, I decided to carry it further.'

> "The pillows seem to appeal to about everyone," Simbach continues. "I handpaint or quilt each one individually, so they all have their own distinct personalities. I even make custom pets for people. The Pet Peeves have a cartoon quality that makes people laugh. And part of the sales are donated to animal rescue efforts."

Harriet Smith: Harriet Smith also combined her rest on past successes. Her two great fascinations in life when she began working with polymer clay. She obtained a degree in art history from the University of Alabama with a minor in chemistry.

For the next 17 years she worked in chemical research for Shell Oil while continuing with her art interests on the side.

Eight years ago she was browsing through a crafts show in Houston and became irresistibly drawn to a type of clay she'd never seen before. Polymer clay is a relatively new medium, developed by doll makers in Germany to replace porce-

- "I saw it from a distance," Smith says, "and wanted to know what IS that stuff? I was hooked immediately. I'm a real color person and with polymer clay I can mix extremely vivid colors. Just like you would mix two colors of paint to get a third tone, I can mix different of clays together to obtains the exact color I want."

Smith's background in chemistry enabled her to understand the physical properties of the clay very quickly.

One of the processes that she perfected while living in London is called "caning." Caning is based on the Venetian glass making technique of cuffing slices from bundles of fused glass rods, revealing the same pattern.

When Smith uses the polymer clay to make canes, the design she forms will run through the entire rod of clay. She then uses paperthin slices of the cane to embellish her works.

"When I got back to the states," Smith explains, "I felt like I had achieved a level of sophistication with the clay. It seemed the right time to give it a shot as a full time project."

So she gave up her life in the corporate world and began concentrating on her new career.

Smith became a member Mississippi the Craftsman's Guild and Rhino Contemporary Crafts gallery in New Orleans, where she lived. She also showed at Jazz Festival in New Orleans for two consecutive years.
